T²FX focuses on First Responder training using the guidelines from the American Safety and Health Institute and Tactical Combat Casualty Care (TCCC), from the guidelines of the PHTLS 6th Edition Military for both non-medical and medical personnel.

TCCC is based on three phases of care: Care under Hostile Fire, Tactical Field Care & Combat Casualty Evacuation Care. Using these procedures, Trauma Training arms its' students to handle life-threatening situations while reducing casualties.

T²FX is also an American Safety and Health Institute Advanced Training Center (ASHI), operating as the Virginia Beach Training Center. T²FX can provide certification for its' customers as TCCC First Responders once they have completed the training course.

Instructed by former special operation medics and other experts with operational experience, the course material takes the customer through classroom instruction to practical hands-on skill stations which facilitates the learning process. Students are taught the most expedient way to save casualties on the battlefield or in tactical situations. A final training exercise is conducted to further enhance the learning process. Depending on the client's needs, drills can be customized and implemented in the field training exercises.

It is our goal to provide the highest level of services. T²FX prides itself in professionalism and integrity providing clients with the best training available.
