The Life You Save....May Be Your Own

Scenario Based Training

Trauma Training FX (T²FX) specializes in providing realistic training scenarios. Whatever your mission, we will create stressful situations mimicking combat related stress. Your ability to function tactically will be tested as well as the skills needed to care for a casualty as you win the fight.

Our Scenario Based Training is not only intended for our military forces, but American professionals, who may find themselves faced with impending danger. For the civilian professionals caught in austere situations, we have the ability to create those specific environments as well.

Trauma Training FX provides realistic practical training exercises. State-of-the-art Moulage, USDAAT Modalities Training and pyrotechnics are utilized bringing our clients the most realistic training environment possible. Visually and audibly, all of your senses will be tested under simulated stressful conditions.

T²FX instills confidence and the "Win the Fight" mentality to every student that receives training.
